FROM: Laura Wilder, Executive Director, Idaho FFA Foundation

Developing agricultural leaders is crucial for the future of our country and the agriculture industry. FFA is meeting that challenge and making a positive difference in the lives of agriculture education students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success.

Over 1,500 Idaho FFA members, agriculture teachers, parents and guests will convene at the College of Southern Idaho April 6-9 for the 2011 State FFA Leadership Conference. During the Conference, FFA members from all 87 Idaho chapters will compete in career development events and leadership contests, and receive special recognition for their achievements, as well participate in leadership presentations and workshops. We are asking for your support of Idaho FFA members as a sponsor for the 2011 Idaho FFA Leadership Conference.
